Objections Ignored

House Wants Check Of Bidding System

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Missouri House brushed aside the objections of the State Highway Commission today and ordered a special investigation of the commission's bidding practices and procedures.

Six House members, still unappointed, will have the job of making the inquiry.

There was no discussion as the House adopted the plan on a voice vote.

The original investigation resolution was introduced by Rep. R. J. (Bus) King (R) of St. Louis County. He said he was told that no matter what a contractor's ability and financial situation he could not get a highway job unless he previously successfully completed a job of less than $250,000.

Some contractors are so heavily equipped with high-priced machinery that they can't afford to bid in on quarter million dollar jobs, he said. But until they have done a small job like that they can't become eligible for the multi-million dollar projects they are best equipped to handle.

As a consequence, King said, eight contracts now have a corner on 50 per cent of the big projects in Missouri.

The Highway Commission told the House Resolutions Committee earlier that the investigation was unnecessary, that most state highway commissions have similar restrictions and that the investigation might cast an undesired stigma on the commission and its work.

Commission spokesmen said the restriction merely assured that a bidder had the experience and the financial backing to do the job called for in the contract.

Earlier the House strolled along through a light batch of bills with

House Upholds Ike Veto

Vote Preserves Benson Control Of REA Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House today upheld President Eisenhower's veto of a rural electrification bill.

The vote was 280-146 in favor of passing the bill over the President's veto. This was four short of the two-thirds necessary to override. It killed the bill.

The President vetoed the bill last Monday and the Senate overrode the veto Tuesday by a vote of 64-29.

The House decision kept intact Eisenhower's record of never having had a veto overridden.

This bill was the 138th vetoed by the President since he took office early in 1953.

The bill would have stripped from Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson his power to veto loans to cooperatives for rural electric and telephone service.

Four Democrats joined 142 Republicans in upholding the President. Six Republicans and 274 Democrats voted to override.

There was no debate before the roll-call vote.

Both sides recognized before the House vote that it looked like a toss-up as to which would win.

Only eight members — four Democrats and four Republicans — failed to vote. There are two House vacancies. The total vote of 426 was one of the heaviest ever cast in the House.

When the House passed the bill originally on April 15, five Democrats opposed it and 16 Republicans supported it.

The one Democrat who changed his position today was Frank M. Clark of Pennsylvania.

The Republicans who shifted were William H. Avery of Kansas, William G. Bray of Indiana, John B. Bennett of Michigan, Ben F. Jensen of Iowa, Catherine May of Wash., Victor Knox of Mich., Edward H. Rees of Kan., Fred Schwendel of Iowa and Edna Simpson of Ill., Page Belcher of Okla., Republican, who voted for the bill on April 15, did not vote today.

The four Democrats who voted to uphold the President were Joseph Barr of Ind., W. J. Bryan Dorn of S.C., and David S. King of Utah and Ha B. McSweeney of La.

Riigala-Isepuux he against the President were H. Carl Andersen of Minn., E.Y. Berry of S.D., H. R. Gross of Iowa, Walt Horan of Wash., Odin Langen of Minn. and Alvin E. O'Koniski of Wis.

Secretary Benson said he was gratified by the action of the House.

"The REA program always has had and shall continue to have my 100 per cent support," the secretary said in a statement.

Godfrey Verdict: Cancer

His Chest Tumor Found Malignant In Surgery Today

NEW YORK (AP)—An operation disclosed today that Arthur Godfrey's chest tumor is cancerous. Physicians are removing it.

One of the radio-TV star's doctors said at 10:30 a.m. that the operation would take until 11:30 a.m. Godfrey was taken to the operating room at 7:25 a.m.

His condition was said to be excellent.

In a statement issued during the operation, the doctor said: "The lesion of Mr. Godfrey's left lung has been identified as being a malignant tumor. The section of the lung containing the tumor is being removed. His condition is excellent."

Three physicians, three nurses and an anesthetist attended Godfrey in the operating room of the Columbia-Prsbyterian Medical Center.

The doctors' names were not immediately made public.

It was understood unofficially that chances were favorable for successful removal of the tumor.

Prior to the operation, Godfrey said that contemplation of the "thing" in his lung gave him a "cold, clammy feeling" and made him mentally "a mess," although he felt fine physically.

Considering the possibility that the tumor might prove to be cancerous and that all or part of the lung might have to be removed, Godfrey said:

"I won't mind one bit just so long as it doesn't cripple me up so that I can't ride or swim or fly."

Godfrey, 55 and a broadcasting personality for almost 30 years, thanked his audience in his final television program this week for their prayers and good wishes, and promised to "see you again soon."

To Request New Trial

Union Official Is Convicted Of Evading Income Taxes

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Frank W. Jacobs Sr., an international vice president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, was convicted by a federal district court jury today of income tax evasion.

His attorney said a new trial would be requested. Judge George H. Moore deferred sentencing until May 15.

Jacobs was accused of evading payment of $24,708. The jury convicted him on two counts involving the period of 1951-52 but acquitted him on a third count involving 1950.

The government contended Jacob's net worth increased from $16,700 in 1942 to $112,003 at the end of 1952 and that this was not reflected in his tax returns.

The union leader could be sentenced to a maximum of five years and fined $10,000 on each of the two counts on which he was convicted.

A sealed verdict was returned at 1:30 a.m. It was opened when court resumed this morning.

Troops Are Prepared For Immediate Action

PANAMA (AP)—Panamanian troops today were reported preparing to go into action at any minute against invaders from Cuba holed up on the north coast 20 miles from the entrance to the Panama Canal.

A screen of U.S. fighter planes was ordered up over Panama's north coast today to detect the approach of more invaders reported crossing the Caribbean from Cuba. The air patrol was requested by the five-ambassador team sent by the Organization of American States to help end the vest-pocket attempt to overthrow Panamanian President Ernesto de la Guardia.

An informed source who reported the imminence of attack on the invaders said the National Guard had held off to protect the 1,000 inhabitants of Nombre de Dios, the coastal town taken over by the invaders who landed last Saturday from Cuba.

Between 200 and 300 guard troops have been deployed around Nombre de Dios since Tuesday.

Youth Gets Credit For Saving Four

Spread Fire Alarm To Occupants Of A Blazing House

Archie Pritchard, 8, was credited with saving the lives of four persons when he was awakened by fire near his bed and spread the alarm through the house at 1114 East Seventh, at 11:57 p.m. Wednesday.

The boy was asleep on a bed in an upstairs hall when he awakened to see fire along the ceiling on the west wall. He jumped from his bed and aroused Mrs. Richard Allen Bennett, Sr., and Mrs. Kay Honeypole who were asleep in two bedrooms upstairs.

He then ran downstairs and awakened Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bennett.

Mrs. Honeypole grabbed her five-year-old daughter, Karen Rae, while Mrs. Richard Bennett grabbed her two-month-old son, Richard Allen Jr., and dashed for the lower part of the house.

Before the fire companies arrived, the flames had broken out and spread through the upper part of the residence. As the East Sedalia company came up Seventh (Please turn to Page 8, Col. 3)

PANAMA (AP)—Panamanian troops today were reported preparing to go into action at any minute against invaders from Cuba holed up on the north coast 20 miles from the entrance to the Panama Canal.

A screen of U.S. fighter planes was ordered up over Panama's north coast today to detect the approach of more invaders reported crossing the Caribbean from Cuba. An informed source who reported the imminence of attack on the invaders said the National Guard had held off to protect the 1,000 inhabitants of Nombre de Dios, the coastal town taken over by the invaders who landed last Saturday from Cuba.

Between 200 and 300 guard troops have been deployed around Nombre de Dios since Tuesday.

The government said the invading force in Nombre de Dios now numbered 89, including 84 Cubans, 3 Panamanians, 1 American and 1 Puerto Rican. The identity of the American was not known. The government claims the foreigners were hired by Panamanians in Cuba plotting to overthrow De la Guardia.

The U.S. air patrol was ordered after Panamanian authorities reported one or two more invasion boats carrying up to 300 men left the Cuban port of Surgidero, on Batabano Bay, Tuesday.

The committee of ambassadors recommended that the OAS Council in Washington urge Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government to "exhaust all measures to prevent a new invasion from being carried out." Castro has condemned action from Cuban soil against other Latin-American governments, and the OAS committee said it had found no evidence that any foreign government was involved in the invasion of Panama.

Package Plan Is Arranged, Session Ends

Final Communique Gives No Details Of West Position

PARIS (AP)—The Western Big Four foreign ministers announced complete agreement today on a package plan they will deliver to the Geneva conference next month. They then unexpectedly ended their session.

A final communique gave no details of the plan. The foreign ministers opened their meeting only Wednesday to unify their positions for the East-West foreign ministers conference at Geneva May 11.

The ministers said they stood four-square behind the West's pledge to hold firm in Berlin and to refuse to abandon the 2 1/2 million residents of that city.

Thought the communique did not say so, official sources reported the ministers had agreed to negotiate a separate Berlin settlement if the Soviet Union rejects the over-all package deal on Berlin, German unity, and European security they plan to propose at Geneva.

This Allied agreement on a fall-back position was disclosed before the U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers began their closing discussion of Britain's project for a zone of limited, controlled arms and armies in central Europe.

Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has advocated establishment of such a zone as the first step in a cold war settlement with the Soviet Union.

Qualified sources gave this outline of the new Allied plan of negotiations:

The Western package that will be laid before the Soviets at the Geneva conference of foreign ministers next month will cover the Berlin dispute, the reunification of Germany in four phases, and a pan-European security system.

If, as expected, the Soviets reject this package, the Western Allies have agreed to fall back on a new position that would allow separate arrangements on threatened Berlin.

The Allies are resolved, however, that they will not separate their linked program for German reunification and the development of a European security system.

The Americans said the first day of the talks with the British, French and West Germans got off to a good start with everything going smoothly.

But the British were still searching behind the scenes for something to offer the Soviets that Moscow might accept — possibly with regard to Berlin.

The Western terms — tying together arrangements for Berlin, German reunification and European security — run directly counter to Soviet demands which were restated Wednesday without modification after a rival conference of Communist-bloc statesmen in Warsaw.

Saves Children, Husband From Sunken Auto

HYNDMAN, Pa. (AP) — "It was a horrible experience, but thank God my husband and children are all right."

So exclaimed Mrs. Nellie Bridges of Corringanville, Md., Wednesday after she dived into a rain-swollen stream to summon aid for her husband and three children, trapped in their partially submerged auto.

Mrs. Bridges, 41, who was driving, said she missed a curve on a country road near the Pennsylvania-Maryland line about 20 miles southwest of Bedford, Pa., and the car plunged into the creek.

Mrs. Bridges said: "We were in about five feet of water in mid-stream. The water was very cold but I kept on going. I hadn't swam for more than 23 years, long before I was married. But I knew I had to reach shore."

She ran about half a mile to a farmhouse and phoned for help. Two volunteer firemen swam to the car and brought the father and children to shore.

Bridges, 51, a furloughed Baltimore & Ohio railroad trackman, told his rescuers he and the children spent a harrowing hour. He said the swift current carried the auto about 100 feet downstream before it wedged against a rock.

Kenneth Ray and Sharon Kay, 3-year-old twins, and Walter, 4, were taken to Memorial Hospital at Cumberland, Md., for observation. Walter had some water in his lungs. The parents were treated for shock.

US to Stop High Flyers For Present Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has tentatively decided to send no more high-altitude planes to West Berlin — for the next few weeks.

Some officials were urging today a review of this decision in the light of a new Soviet challenge. The Soviet Union disputed again Wednesday the American view that such flights are perfectly legal.

Most authorities appeared ready, however, to stand by the temporary ban to avoid further controversy in advance of meetings with the Soviet Union.

The temporary halt was decided upon last week jointly by the State and Defense departments in a confidential review.

They took the decision mainly because of Britain's misgivings that further flights above the 10,000-foot level might look as if the West were deliberately trying to provoke an incident which might torpedo east-west talks on the future of Berlin and Germany.

High-flying C130 turboprop jets flew to West Berlin at altitudes of about 25,000 feet March 27 and April 15. Soviet fighters buzzed each flight, provoking American protests.

The new Soviet protest summed up all Moscow's old arguments. It was quickly rejected by the State department last night.

The Soviet note contended any flights higher than 10,000 feet were illegal. It claimed they were deliberately designed to wreck the Big Four foreign ministers meeting beginning May 11 in Geneva.

State Department authorities consider high-altitude flights important because the big C130s operate best at 20,000 to 25,000 feet.

Capt. John Wood Is Assigned As Korean Advisor

Marine Capt. John R. Wood, supply and fiscal officer of the Marine Barracks, Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., has been ordered to report for duty on the staff of the Naval Advisory Group, Marine Corps Component, in Korea, by mid-June.

Capt. Wood is the son of Mrs. C. R. Wood, who resides at the Terry Hotel, and the husband of the former Miss Mary Peabody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peabody, 1319 South Osage.

Prior to reporting to his new duty, Capt. Wood will attend the Military Assistance Institute in Washington, D.C., during the month of May. Upon completion of the course he will depart for his 13-month tour of duty in Korea.

A veteran of Guadalcanal and Tarawa of World War II, and the early fighting in Korea, 1950-51, Capt. Wood entered the Corps in September, 1941, at Kansas City. He graduated from Smith-Cotton High School in 1939.

Entering as a private, he advanced through all the enlisted ranks and was promoted to warrant officer in 1944. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1952 while serving at Norfolk, Va., and received his commission as a captain in 1955 at the Marine Corps Base, Quantico, Va.

While the captain is serving in Korea, his wife and three children, Jacqueline Ann, 13; Michael Lee, 11; and John Patrick, 7, will reside in North Chicago, Ill. Mrs. Wood holds the office of vice-

Backers of Foreign Aid Are Confident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate backers of President Eisenhower's foreign aid program were confident of defeating an effort to cut in half a proposed emergency appropriation for economic development loans abroad today.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) drafted a 40-page speech in support of an amendment to cut the 200-million-dollar appropriation back to the 100 million dollars voted by the House in a pending $2,800,000,000 catch-all supplemental money bill.

While Ellender's opponents claimed the vote to turn-back his reduction effort, they were less hopeful of getting the House to accept more than a compromise 150 million dollars.

Later they expect an even harder fight on a proposal by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) to embark July 1 on a five-year program to provide 1½ billion dollars a year in Treasury financing for the economic development fund, which makes loans to underdeveloped nations.

President Eisenhower told a news conference he agrees with Fulbright that the loan fund should be put on a long-range basis and not tied down to yearly appropriations.

Uproar To Sharpen Up Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said today the uproar over Clare Boothe Luce's nomination is likely to sharpen the Senate's investigation of other diplomatic appointments.

Agreeing, Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) said he thinks Democrats may make President Eisenhower's selection of Ogden Reid Jr. as ambassador to Israel the first example of this sharpened scrutiny. Reid is the former editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

Fulbright, who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has said that he and some other committee members have grave doubts about Reid's professional qualifications for the post. The committee plans to take up the nomination the week of May 11.

Dirksen said the Israeli government has made it clear it regards Reid as well qualified. He added he has found no indication that Eisenhower is considering a withdrawal of the nomination despite prospects of a fight over it.

The Senate, which on Tuesday had confirmed Mrs. Luce's nomination to be ambassador to Brazil by a 79-11 vote, started up a brief new debate on the matter Wednesday.

Dirksen, criticizing Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) for having inquired of the doctor, quoted Dr. Milton Rosenbluth of New York as saying Mrs. Luce had not received psychiatric treatment.

Morse said he had made a quiet inquiry and then dropped the matter. Morse had fought bitterly against Senate confirmation of the appointment.

Dirksen said Morse's inquiry amounted to an effort to get a doctor to violate the traditional secrecy between a physician and his patient.

Morse denied that, but said there are times when doctors have the duty to make information about their patients known to persons in positions of responsibility.

The debate followed up a Tuesday exchange which included a statement from Mrs. Luce that her troubles with Morse started after the senator "was kicked in the head by a horse." Morse retorted that "this is part of an old pattern of mental instability on her part."

Wednesday's Senate debate ended after Sen. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.) said that "if we continue along with this debate, not only the whole country but also Latin America will think we are all nuts."

But all the debate appeared unlikely to upset Mrs. Luce's return to ambassadorial status, despite her husband's suggestion that she resign. She formerly was ambassador to Italy.

Brazil's Foreign Minister Francisco Negro de Lima said his government is pleased that the Senate has confirmed the appointment.

Eisenhower earlier had dismissed her remark about Morse by saying that "even if ill-advised, it was human." He said he did not think her usefulness as ambassador had been damaged in any major way by the Senate row over her appointment.

District Governor Speaks To Lions Club Wednesday

The Sedalia Lions Club had as its guest speaker at a meeting at the Officers Club, Whiteman AFB, Wednesday night. District Gov. Etsyl Sparkman, of Springfield, and guests were members of the 340th Combat Defense Squadron of the base.

More than 60 members of the local club, with their wives and guests, were in attendance at the dinner meeting, presided over by President Tom Baker, who introduced the various guests.

Col. M. H. Keilman, acting vice-commander of the 340th Bomb Wing, representing Col. Harold E. Humfeld, commander, who was called away from the base Wednesday, offered greetings to the civic club visitors. Col. Keilman, who has been stationed at the base for several years, told of his affiliations with the community and expressed, on behalf of the personnel of Whiteman Air Force Base, appreciation to the communities for the interest shown in them personally and the base activities as well.

International Counsellor E. B. Smith, Sedalia, introduced District Governor A. J. Wolfe, Pilot Grove of District 26-C, in whose district Sedalia is located. Gov. Wolfe then made the introduction of the speaker of the evening, Gov. Sparkman. Sparkman stressed the importance of the type of meeting he was addressing, building better community relations and bringing together the people of various communities. He said, "Whiteman Air Force Base personnel can be classified as a community in itself."

Continuing in his talk he told the Lions Club stands for "Service" and its motto "Liberty Intelligence Our Nations Safety" and stressed other purposes of the club as to its activities.

"To make these community relations work, the Lions must put forth every effort to bring the people together, and of course the people of the base must likewise work toward community relationship with their surrounding communities. The program of civic clubs adopting various squadrons on the base is an excellent idea," he said.

During the program, Mrs. Wilma Rhoads sang several vocal selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mae Moser.

Past President Kenneth Buchholtz led group singing during the dinner with Mrs. Moser at the piano.

Invocation was delivered by Past President A. B. Warren, with 1st Lt. Richard A. Neal of the Base giving the benediction.

Among the honored guests at the speakers table were Lt. Col. Joseph L. Talbot, information service officer, and Mrs. Talbot; Major W. M. Lile, commander of the 340th Combat Defense Squadron, and Mrs. Lile; Capt. Donald H. Tidwell, security officer, and Mrs. Tidwell; Mrs. E. B. Smith; and Mrs. Baker.

There were more than 45 members of the 340th Combat Defense Squadron, many with their wives, in attendance. The squadron was "adopted" by the Sedalia Lions Club as one of the club projects. Various members of the Squadron attend the weekly meetings of the club here in Sedalia.

U.S. Red Veterans Mark Anniversary

MOSCOW (AP)—U. S. and Soviet veterans Wednesday night celebrated the 14th anniversary of their World War II meeting at the Elbe River by exchanging hopes for good relations between the American and Soviet people. Joseph Polowsky of Chicago, Ill., leader of the seven Americans here for the reunion, told the reunion meeting that the "plain people of both countries don't want war."

The reunions have been held since 1955, commemorating the joining of the American and Soviet armies on the Elbe in the drive that split Germany in two. Last year's meeting was in the United States.

The American veterans arrived Tuesday. They will be guests at the Soviet May Day parade in Moscow.

Widow Tosses Back Tear Gas Fired by Police

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — A widow with a shotgun barricaded herself in her apartment for three hours Wednesday and tossed back the tear gas grenades fired by police.

Mrs. Catherine Ranonis, about 60, held 30 policemen at bay by threatening to shoot at them if they stormed her third-floor apartment.

Two policemen tried to sneak up the back stairs and found out she wasn't bluffing. She fired at them, but the pellets lodged in the wall and the two backed off unhurt.

Finally, however, the tear gas got the better of Mrs. Ranonis and officers wearing gas masks entered the apartment and disarmed her.

Mrs. Ranonis has had a long feud with a neighborhood funeral home over parking of funeral cars in front of the apartment building where she lives. The dispute erupted again Wednesday, and police were called.

Mrs. Ranonis barricaded herself in the apartment and threatened to fire. Thirty tear gas grenades were hurled. She picked them up as they landed and threw them back.

Then police, wearing gas masks mounted the stairs, broke in and disarmed her.

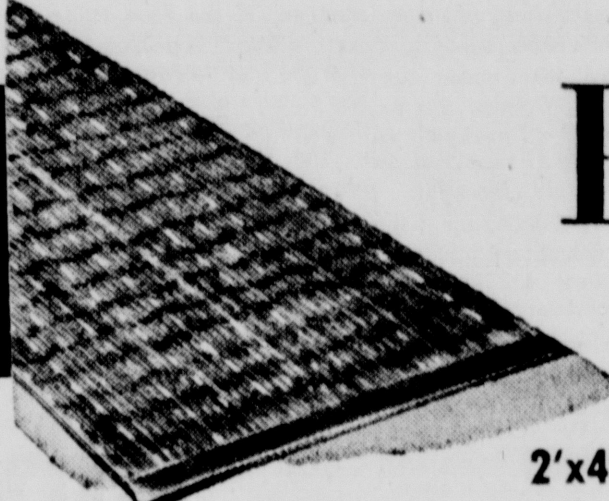

She was taken to Philadelphia General Hospital for psychiatric examination.

Freighter To Arrive In Chicago Port

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—A flag-bedecked Dutch freighter carrying a cargo from the old world comes to Chicago today, marking a niche in the maritime history of the new world.

She is the 353-foot Prins Johan Willem Friso, easy victory in the momentous race to become the first large-sized ocean-going vessel to sail the rebuilt St. Lawrence Seaway through the Great Lakes to Chicago.

The ship's arrival heralds a new era in sea transportation, opening up the Midwest to big ships.

A gala celebration, including a parade and banquet, awaited the Friso here, similar to the whoop-la Milwaukee put on Wednesday night when the ship docked there.

Chicago and other Great Lakes ports beam at the opening of the seaway because they hope it will inaugurate a great business boom.

The 4,000-ton Friso was one of the first through the locks when the seaway opened Saturday.

The Friso led her nearest competitor in the westward race from Montreal—the 459½-foot American flag ship Santa Regina—by some 200 miles. The Santa Regina was scheduled to arrive at Lake Calumet Harbor on the far South Side late today.

A roaring welcome by some 15,000 persons greeted Capt. Sander Klein and his crew when the Friso docked at Milwaukee 90 miles north to become the first foreign flag ship to tie up at a Lake Michigan port after sailing through the new canal.

Sirens screamed, jets whooshed overhead and a helicopter dropped roses.

Mayor Carl Zeidler welcomed the captain and crew, saying: "This is a glorious beginning of a tremendous era of expansion in shipping. I hope it leads not only to mutual economic advantage but also to greater understanding of the people with whom we trade."

A silver cup was presented to the owners, Fjell-Orange Lines.

The Friso carries a cargo of wines, artificial flowers, glassed mushrooms, toys, twine, window glass, farm implements and dies.

Woman Worker At Cotton Mills Hurt Slightly

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—A woman employee of the struck was wounded slightly Wednesday night by one of nine rifle shots fired into the building.

It was the latest eruption of violence in the long and bitter strike by the Textile Workers Union of America.

Police said the woman, Mattie Lindsey, was hit in the shoulder by a 22-caliber bullet while at work in the south Henderson mill. The mill is manned by nonunion workers. Police said the bullet had about spent itself before striking her, and that the wound was minor.

The rear window of a cruising police car was shattered by a heavy object near the same mill. Relative quiet prevailed at the north Henderson mill.

Meanwhile, Company President John D. Cooper Jr. said federal mediator Yates Heafner was trying to arrange a union-management meeting for today or Friday in an effort to settle the strike that began Nov. 17.

"In view of this development and until the matter is resolved," Cooper said, "I plan to postpone the beginning of the third shift indefinitely."

A third shift was to start last Tuesday night but Cooper delayed it at the request of Gov. Luther Hodges and Mayor Carroll Singleton, who feared an outbreak of violence might result.

Special Collection

PITTSBURG (AP)—John Gibson's church in Indianapolis took up a special collection and sent him the money to come home.

The Pittsburg State College freshman was put on probation earlier this week after he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing two radios from dormitory rooms at the college.

Gipson's church paid his way to Pittsburg last fall when he came to enter school and play basketball.

Matter of FACT

Although in 1541, Hernando de Soto was probably the first white man to see the southern part of the Mississippi River, it was not until 132 years later that Louis Jolliet and Father Jacques Marquette crossed northern Illinois and discovered the northern part. In 1682, all the river and its surrounding territory was claimed for France by LaSalle. In 1763, the French land east of the river was given Great Britain.

Little Richard Has Had Other Troubles

OWASSO, Okla. (AP)—Little Richard, the spirited hound dog freed Wednesday from a rocky "tomb" six days after being lured there by a smart con, has had other difficulties with the wily critters.

In the future, 2½-year-old Little Richard probably would go into the same rocky bluff's crevice which had trapped him, his owner Larry Wilson said.

Little Richard was under the care of Dr. John Collins, a veterinarian in nearby Tulsa, today. Collins said he had "every chance in the world" to pull through.

The hound was freed after Wilson and 200 volunteers chipped away at limestone and stubborn granite in a persistent vigil.

Dynamite charges and jackhammers were used to widen the crevice inch by inch. An air hammer removed the last boulder and Little Richard crawled feebly into his master's arms, whimpering affectionately.

"I think that con knew exactly where he was going when he ran from Little Richard," said Wilson. "That con probably got away from a lot of dogs there."

Navigation, Power Clash Develops

OMAHA (AP)—A head-on clash between power and navigation interests developed today as the Coordinating Committee for Operation of Missouri River Reservoir Operations opened its second annual public hearing.

The hearing is to give various interests in the Missouri Basin an opportunity to state their views to the committee which is working on an operating plan for the five main stem reservoirs during the coming year.

The committee seeks to operate the reservoirs in a manner that equitably serves the needs of flood control, irrigation, aviation, power, along with the water supply and sanitation requirements.

In a statement, Braxton B. Carr of Washington, president of the American Waterways Assn. urged release of enough water to provide a standard channel, eight-to-nine-month barge season on the Missouri instead of the shortened season now permitted.

Otherwise, he said, the economic growth of the whole Missouri Valley could be retarded. Carr said a water release program designed to place the hydro-electric power priority second to domestic and municipal supply and irrigation, "would be disastrous, and perhaps even fatal, to navigation on the Missouri River."

A different view was taken by V. T. Hanlon of Madison, S. D., manager of the East River Electric Power Co-Operative. He charged that "navigation takes the lion's share of the water, yet power pays for the reimbursable cost of the program and navigation pays nothing. 'Power,' he said, "is a cash register of the basin program."

AN INVITATION

All (fisher)MEN & WOMEN (No Mice) are cordially invited to join me and others in a fishing expedition to Spring Fork Lake May 3, 1959—next Sunday. This will serve as the Spring Opening of the lake and is officially set for 10:00 a.m., although some may start much earlier.

The water board is especially invited. This invitation is actually superfluous since you own as much of the lake as any other Sedalia taxpayer and water-user does.

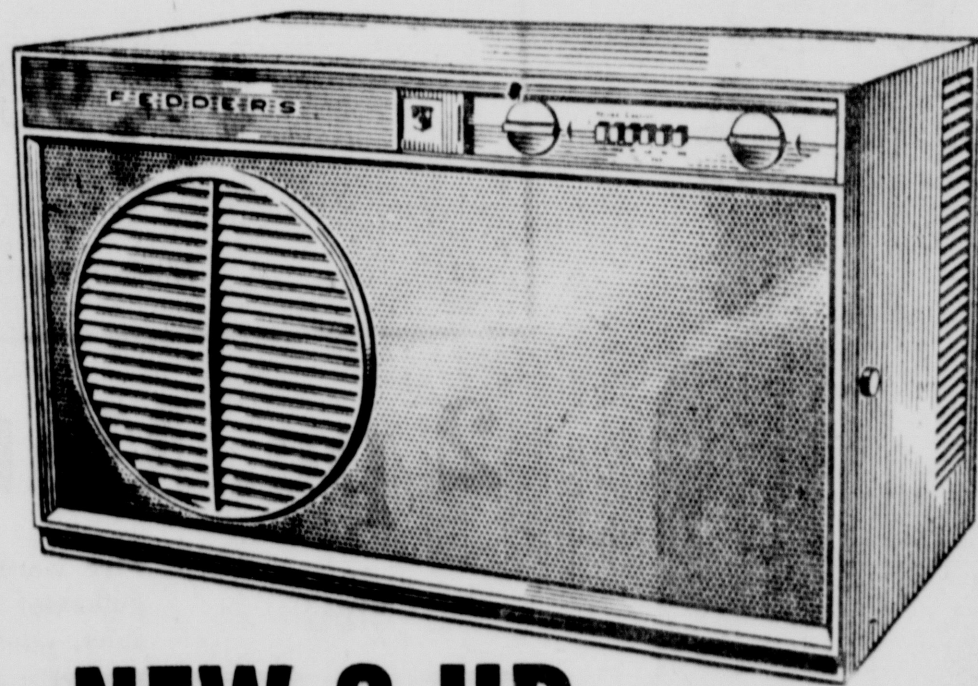

The lake is now being patrolled by armed guards but I have been assured by a water board member that they do NOT have orders to shoot to kill.

Come on out.

Ceremonies At Striped College Held

Striped College eighth grade commencement was held Friday, April 24, with the graduates being John Wayne Bohon, Tommy Dee Carver, Don Louis Eye, Bonnie June Fischer, and Dorothy Joann Leiter, with Mrs. Don McQueen and Mrs. Clarence Leiter, teachers.

The stage was decorated in blue and white, the class colors, with Mrs. Clarence Leiter playing for the procession. Invocation was given by the Rev. H. E. Trevathan, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church, who also gave the commencement address.

The welcome was given by John Bohon, and Tommy Dee Carver gave the class history. The school song was by the graduates followed by a reading by Don Eye, "Live and Let Live."

Joann Leiter gave the class address. Mrs. C. F. Scotten, substituting for Dr. Scotten, who is ill, presented the diplomas.

Students who graduated four years ago from Striped College and are now high school graduates, were introduced: John Dale Hansen, Joyce Kroeger, Patty Rodewald, Mary Bohon Ware, Carolee Shirley, Caroline Staley, Virginia Leiter and Leland Finley, and then presented Mrs. McQueen and Mrs. Leiter each a gift of a Sedalia centennial plate.

All former graduates under Mrs. McQueen then came to the stage. There were 23 and each told what year they graduated. Joanne Leiter and Bonnie Fischer sang, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You," with Mrs. Clarence Leiter as accompanist.

Bonnie Fischer then presented Mrs. McQueen a gift from the class. Sandra Cox, representing the "Spirit of Good Wishes," lighted the candles of the graduates who in turn lighted the candles the candles of the upper grades in the candle lighting ceremony after which they sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

The crowd, numbering 150, then went to the basement where a reception was held.

Punch and cake were served by the high school graduates assisted by the mothers.

The table was covered with a blue cloth with floating candles and fruit for the centerpiece.

Local People Assisting With Historic Survey

Miss Mamie J. McCormick, Sedalia, and B. B. Ihrig, Smithton, are serving as Pettis County chairmen of the State Historical Sites Survey now being conducted by the State Historical Society of Missouri in Columbia. They are assisting with the Pettis County survey.

According to Dr. Floyd C. Shoemaker, secretary of the State Historical Society of Missouri, the Society is gathering information on historical sites of interest in each of the 114 Missouri counties. Homes of persons prominent in Missouri's history, historic homes and buildings of outstanding architectural interest, and structures identified with the economic, educational, military, political, recreational, or religious history of Missouri will be included in the survey. Historical sites with no buildings will also be included if they are closely associated with a noted person or a historical event of statewide importance.

Dr. Shoemaker said the survey is being made to foster local pride in historic sites and to provide a comprehensive record of the State's historic sites for the use of local communities and the entire State. Since the inauguration of the project, information on some 750 historic sites has been received at Society headquarters.

Loopholes In Soviet Offer Of Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. authorities see many potential loopholes in the Soviet offer of limited inspection to back up a nuclear test ban.

With only a general outline of the Soviet idea presented thus far, officials here have found enough weak spots to make the plan unacceptable to the West.

They are awaiting clarification before deciding whether the proposal shows promise of breaking the long deadlock in the Geneva talks on banning nuclear tests.

While Western powers had called for an inspection system to police any agreement to halt atomic explosions, Moscow had been pushing for veto power.

In a switch Tuesday night, the Soviets announced in Geneva they would cooperate in a veto-free system of spot checking the sites of suspected nuclear explosions—provided the Big Three atomic powers fix in advance the number of such checks to be allowed each year.

President Eisenhower pointed up some of the loopholes Wednesday. He said there is no sense in talking about the number of inspection visits to be allowed as long as the Soviets insist on veto rights on who is to serve on control committees and inspection teams and what can be inspected.

Washington officials also said that if the Reds still reserve veto rights on the planned seven-nation control commission they could cripple inspections by chopping appropriations, barring the hiring of experts and other devices.

The Soviets have demanded, too, that the inspection teams be headed by nationals of the country being inspected and that the majority on the teams be nationals. Americans contend this amounts to self-inspection.

In the U.S. view, the number of inspections to be allowed would be of great importance.

According to one set of scientific calculations, there may be from 200 to 1,000 natural events a year—such as earthquakes—which would have to be checked to assure they were not atomic blasts.

Thus if the Communists propose only a half-dozen inspections a year, for instance, this would clearly fall short of an adequate inspection system in the West's view.

Rebellious Wheat Farmer to Go To Australia

CHICAGO (AP)—Stanley Yankus, Michigan farmer who rebelled against federal regulations on planting wheat, said today he will move to Australia.

His decision was made public in a copyrighted story in the Chicago Daily News which sponsored a preview trip to Australia by the Dowagiac, Mich., man.

Yankus' reason for the move, he said, is that he thinks freedom has a greater future in Australia than in the United States.

He says he believes this country has only one last chance to save itself against socialism. It can be saved, he said, only by the public writing Congress urging repeal of the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Yankus was fined $5,072 for planting 35 acres of wheat on his farm whereas he had been ordered to plant only 15.

His defense was that he raised the wheat to feed his chickens.

"The issue isn't whether I go or stay," Yankus declared. "That's a private matter."

"The issue is this: It's wrong to prevent a man from earning his own living so long as he isn't harming another man."

"I haven't harmed any farmer or city dweller. I have earned my living for myself and my family. I have paid my taxes."

"I believe I have been fined unjustly and in violation of the Constitution of the United States."

Yankus said he and his wife, Mildred, have been ready to move since they sold their Dowagiac farm April 4 for $30,000. They have two sons and a daughter, Russell, 13; Dennis, 11, and Karen, 3.

Paratrooper Looks At World Upside Down

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—If you want to know what it's like to look at the world upside down, ask Pfc. Frederick M. Kamradt, an 18-year-old paratrooper.

He dangled head down from an airplane for almost 10 minutes Wednesday after he became fouled up in parachute paraphernalia at an altitude of 1,450 feet.

He said he tripped over a 100-pound bag of equipment he was carrying as he made ready to leap through the door of the C123 aircraft.

The next he knew he was suspended at the end of the 15-foot static line attached to a cable inside the plane to open the chute. The static line caught through his legs and left him dangling.

S. Sgt. Richard W. Collins of Memphis, Tenn., came to his aid after the plane had climbed to 2,500 feet. Kamradt, of East Jordan, Mich., resumed his descent earthward, this time using a reserve chute.

Then, about 10 miles from here, he landed in a tree—upside down again. He dangled 10 feet above ground until persons living nearby freed him.

Kamradt's next jump will be his 13th.

Herter Makes Journey To His Old School

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter made a sentimental journey today to a French school he attended more than half a century ago.

A band of youngsters gave him a rousing cheer as they marched in review in the same courtyard where young Chris Herter used to play.

Born of American parents living in Paris, Herter entered the famed Ecole Alsacienne in 1902, as a boy of 7. He studied there three years.

Now 64, Herter took time out today from the conference of Western foreign ministers to return to his old classroom. On the blackboard, in blue chalk and careful English, were the words "Welcome, Mr. Herter."

Georges Gallienne, president of the school's administrative council, led the visitor to the desk where he once sat. He showed him an old school registration book which mentioned him as a "tres bon eleve," a very good student. Gallienne gave Herter a history of the school and a commemorative medal.

The secretary's eyes glistened with emotion as he walked about the school.

"All men have two countries, their own and Paris," Herter told pupils massed in the courtyard.

"I believe that this phrase, which has been repeated millions of times, represents my own feelings."

TWA Hostesses Take Strike Vote Today

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Trans World Airlines hostesses are taking a strike vote to support their demands for more pay and shorter hours.

Alanna Schenkosky of Los Angeles, master chairman of the TWA Hostesses and Purse Union, said Wednesday negotiations between the hostesses and TWA on a new contract have been broken off. The current contract expires May 1.

She said the union's demands are based on "increased productivity" caused by TWA's change from conventional to faster jet airliners. The union wants flight time cut to 63 hours per month plus a wage increase. Amount of the union's wage demands were not revealed.

Union officials said the company has declined to lower the present 85 hours-per-month maximum flight time, and had offered a pay increase of $15 monthly. Top pay for hostesses with eight years experience is $375 a month, on the dispute.

More Information About Snowman

LONDON (AP)—Chinese peasants captured an abominable snow man in Kansu province and even trained him to work, Moscow radio reported today. But then they killed him.

The broadcast gave no further details of this first claim to domesticating the snowman, or "yeti," the legendary creature who supposedly walks upright over the high mountains of Asia but flees at the approach of man.

The Russians admitted that they themselves were outwitted on a yeti-hunting expedition to the Pamir Mountains of Central Asia last summer.

Montgomery Says He Carries a Message

MOSCOW (AP)—British Field Marshal Montgomery said today he is taking back a message from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. He has had two conferences with Khrushchev.

The old British soldier talked with newsmen at the British Embassy. He declined to go into the subject of his conferences with Khrushchev, but said they were very friendly.

Doesn't Want Job

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Vice Mayor H. Sanders Angles had this to say when he announced for re-election:

"My many friends have not prevailed upon me to become a candidate for re-election, and I have not been told that the city needs my services."

"The truth of the matter is, I want the job again."

Street from Montgomery, a line of hose was laid out and two leader lines were used to battle the fire which was spreading rapidly.

Those in the second floor rooms barely escaped with what clothing they could carry and all rushed into the chill of the night air in their bare feet.

During the height of the fire, W. E. Bennett went back into the house and rescued the family pet dog.

Fire Chief Emmett Vaught estimated the damage to the house at $3,000 and to the contents $1,200. Chief Vaught reported he believed the fire originated from defective wiring.

State Treasurer Sanford Brown holds an empty money sack in front of a vault at Lansing to dramatize the state's cash emergency. Gov. G. Mennen Williams announced that funds were lacking to meet a payroll this week of 335 state-salaried workers. A five million dollar payroll for 28,000 employees is due May 11. The Democratic governor, at odds with the Republican-controlled legislature on how new funds should be appropriated, made the payless payday move following a new deadlock in the legislature. ## Drastic Cuts In Education, Health Plans

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—"This means that mental health, public welfare, higher education, public schools and similar programs will have to have drastic cuts in their level of services."

That was the immediate reaction of Rep. George D. Young (D) of Howard County yesterday after the Senate passed and sent back to the House appropriation bills that would have the effect of cutting House figures by some 33 million dollars. He is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"If the Senate does not take action on the tax bills," Young said, "we shall undoubtedly have to reduce the House figures to approximately the same amount set forth in the appropriations bills as passed by the Senate."

The Senate cuts were made on the theory that the appropriations could not be set higher than the amount of revenue now in sight. Bills to provide additional revenue are stuck in the Senate Ways and Means Committee and one—to increase the cigarette tax—has been killed by the House.

Under the Senate theory the total budget to operate the state government for the two years starting July 1 would be around $1,117,000,000. That's about 40 million less than Gov. James T. Blair recommended.

As pressures for more money built up from state agencies and institutions, efforts were being made in the Senate to bring out a withholding system for collecting the state income tax.

The governor signed the first money bill of the session to reach him, an emergency measure carrying $6,777,111 to finance the government for the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30.

The final figure was a compromise $15,008 less than the House. The final figure was a compromise $15,008 less than the House approved but $400,941 more than the Senate first voted.

The program dramatizing highlights of Truman's life will be received at Democratic gatherings in key cities around the country.

Luis Moya Must Die For Murdering Nurse

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Luis Moya must die in the gas chamber for his part in the strangulation of nurse Olga Duncan.

A jury so decreed Wednesday night. Moya is the final member of a trio convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of the 30-year-old pregnant nurse.

Moya and Augustine Baldonado said they were hired to kill the Canadian-born nurse by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, the victim's intensely jealous mother-in-law. The two men kidnapped her from her Santa Barbara, Calif., apartment last Nov. 17, strangled her and dumped the body in a roadside grave.

Mrs. Duncan and Baldonado are awaiting automatic review of their death sentences.

$2 Payday Purpose Told By Finance

As result of the unusual payday today, approximately $280,000 worth of $2 bills are floating around Whiteman Air Force Base and the surrounding communities, according to Capt. Charles Daniels Jr., base financial services officer.

Designed to give an indication of just where Whiteman personnel spend their money and how much of it ends up in the hands of civilian merchants, the payday included both enlisted and officers' pay, but excluded civilian employees.

Persons being paid in $2 bills did not include those who have their checks mailed to the banks, Capt. Daniels said.

Joey Bishop Sits In For Jack Paar

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Bishop, who will sit in for vacationing Jack Paar next week, said he'd like to get his two brothers on the show. One is a head waiter in Miami Beach and the other "runs a pocketbook factory in California."

A fellow asked if they were unrecognized comic geniuses.

"No," replied Bishop. "They're horrible — as comedians. But they could use the 320 bucks you get for appearing on the show."

One yardstick of comedians, he implied, lies in the neighborhood of $320 — those who need it and those who don't want it. "I'd like to get Jack Benny and Bob Hope. But neither of them wants $320."

Bishop is a smallish, youngish looking chap with features as immobile as a Grecian mask and an upper lip as stiff as Jack Benny's. As a matter of fact, Bishop would rather talk about Benny than about himself.

Benny, he says, is a "genuine comic. A genuine comic is a guy who's told by the audience that he's funny. The other kind tells the audience he's funny."

Since Benny wasn't around to put in a good word for Bishop, we'll have to do it ourselves.

Success hasn't spoiled him either. Like Jack Paar over a number of years, he has been developing his own style and pace of comedy. He shuns "sick" and insult and vulgar jokes.

Bishop was born 3-pound Joey Gottlieb in the Bronx. His father was a bicycle salesman.

Gottlieb teamed with two other guys named Reisman and Spector to form the Bishop Brothers Trio working small clubs and burlesque. Eventually he became a single comedian after burying his comedy in army khaki for four years during World War II.

Bishop was a highly successful nightclub comedian when he was offered a spot on the CBS-TV show "Keep Talking." Guest spots on the Paar Show over NBC-TV followed.

The Paar Show, he feels, is an example of "the type of television program that's right for me. I can be myself on it."

He's not in the least nervous about filling in for Paar, whom he admires.

"As long as you're honest," he says, "how can you get in trouble?"

Dancer Pickets

Hawaiian Government

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — A professional dancer, carrying a sign reading, "Dear Public, This Can Happen to You Too," picketed the seat of Hawaii's government Wednesday trying to get her five children back from welfare officials.

Mrs. Leilani H. Price, in a street length muumuu and a large straw hat, played a ukelele while a little white dog ran by her side. Known professionally as Ma Ma Loa, she paraded for hours in front of the Iolani Palace while the Territorial Legislature met.

Welfare officials took her five children last week and put them in a home. They said she and the children were living in a station wagon without bath or toilet facilities and she wouldn't be allowed to have the children until she provides them with a home. Two of the children suffer from cerebral palsy.

Sunshine Is Elusive For Bogarde

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dirk Bogarde, Britain's top leading man, finally succumbed to the lure of Hollywood to seek some sunshine. So what happens?

He has been spending 10 hours a day in a stuffy rehearsal hall learning to play the piano.

The reason is that he is portraying Franz Liszt in Columbia's "The Magic Flame." Since Liszt was a whiz at the keyboard, Dirk has been forced into long practice so he can look convincing.

During a rare moment of relaxation at the Bel-Air Hotel, Bogarde explained why he held out so long against the Hollywood offers.

"I was doing well in British films, so there didn't seem much reason to come over here, where I was little known. In England, I had approval of director and co-stars and story veto, which I probably couldn't get here.

"Then I fell ill with double pneumonia and pleurisy and was holding on — not very anxiously — to my life. I finally decided I had better get out of the English climate and find some sunshine."

He has managed to steal some time from the piano to make some observations on his first trip to California.

"It's much more beautiful than I had been led to expect by expatriates and other malcontents who have returned to England."

Nor was he distressed by our smog — "It's hardly noticeable, compared to the air we have in England."

Barnes Wins Award In Competition

At the annual law school dinner Saturday evening at the University of Missouri, Donald Barnes, son of Mrs. I. W. Barnes, 909 West Tenth, was awarded the Roscoe Anderson Award for excellence in the junior finals of the Case Club competition.

Barnes, one of four second year law students selected as finalists in the Case Club eliminations last fall, was awarded a plaque as the outstanding advocate (lawyer) in the afternoon finals.

Judge Norman D. Houser, commissioner of the Missouri Supreme Court, made the award to Barnes at the banquet which was attended by the judges of the Missouri Supreme Court, Missouri lawyers, law students and guests.

In making the presentation, Judge Houser commented that the work of the student lawyers measured up to the work of experienced lawyers who had appeared before him in appellate cases.

Barnes, an honor graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and Central Missouri State College, has had extensive debate experience throughout high school and college.

John E. Burruss, Jr., of Jefferson City was co-counsel with Barnes in the moot case involving the liability of a tobacco company for lung cancer. Ralph Edwards, St. Louis, and Clarence Finley of North Kansas City, appeared as the opposing lawyers.

Richard Cobern, St. Louis lawyer, in the major address of the evening, told the Missouri lawyers of the Russian judicial system. Cobern was one of six lawyers selected by the American Bar Association to make a trip to the Soviet Union to study its courts.

Recognition was given at the banquet to seven graduating law students for their initiation into

Gay College Student Is Just a Myth

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Despite the panty raids and telephone booth shenanigans, the idea of a happy, carefree college student is just a myth, a psychiatrist said today.

College students are just as confused — as prone to emotional and mental ills — as anyone else, reported Dr. Melvin L. Selzer of the University of Michigan.

In fact, freshmen carry with them the very emotional problems they had at home, he told the American Psychiatric Assn. annual meeting.

The stresses of college life are more liable to bring these problems to a head, if anything.

The case load at the mental hygiene clinic on the university campus regularly show two peaks — one at mid-semester examinations and one at final examination time.

What about panty raids and the like? This is just a way of blowing off some of the stresses and anxieties college students build up during the school year, Dr. Selzer said. It is neither alarming nor abnormal behavior.

More organized ways are pep rallies and intramural athletics.

Each year nearly 8 per cent of the nearly 20,000 students at Michigan come for counseling at the mental hygiene clinic. Some 40 per cent of these come on their own. The others are referred by faculty, doctors and academic counselors.

The patients seen by a college health service psychiatrist are comparable with patients found in almost any public outpatient psychiatric clinic, he said.

White Woman Singles Out Teenage Negro

QUITMAN, Ga. (AP)—"It was him."

With those words, a 25-year-old married white woman singled out a teen-age Negro boy as the person who raped her on the bank of a fishing pond near her home. Sheriff R. W. Jones of Brooks County said the victim identified the 16-year-old Negro immediately after facing him Wednesday.

Jones said the boy was being held in an undisclosed jail outside of Brooks County and that rape charges were being prepared.

Names of rape victims and juveniles charged with crimes are withheld by state law.

Earlier Wednesday, the woman exonerated Jesse G. Graham Jr., 21-year-old Negro who had been held in connection with the case. She had told officers her attacker said his name was Jesse G. Graham Jr.

Graham surrendered to Jones Tuesday night after learning he was being sought by a posse. Jones spirited him to the Thomasville jail, 29 miles west of Quitman, to avoid possible violence.

The woman viewed Graham in a lineup with three other Negroes and said her attacker was not among them.

Graham gave the sheriff names of five Negroes he had been associating with and who had been in the area where the attack occurred Tuesday. The 16-year-old was among those named.

Jones reported the youth said he was at home at the time of the incident.

Matter of FACT

Belgium is one of the most thickly populated European countries. Its 8,512,195 people are crowded into an area of 11,779 square miles, about 500 square miles smaller than the state of Maryland. There are 723 persons to the square mile. By reclaiming a strip of low land along its coast, Belgium has extended its western border and its farm lands. The sea is walled out by dikes, in some places 300 feet thick.

Two Men Admit Recent Holdups

MADISON, Ill. (AP) — Six men have admitted in signed statements they participated in two recent Madison holdups, police report.

The six have been charged in warrants with armed robbery. Two are free on bond, the others remained last night in Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Police said Clyde F. Lowry, 23, is free on $10,000 bond and Robert S. North, 36, on $5,000 bond. Still in jail are John W. Fugeat, 64, Gerald L. Will, 25, Dale Eugene Smith, 25, and Mickey Lee Walker, 23. North is from Madison, the others from Quincy, Ill.

Officers said Lowry, Walker and Fugeat admitted taking part in a $300 holdup Sunday night of Madison drug store proprietor Frank Hideo. All six admitted taking part, police said, in the $1,100 holdup of a Madison tavern April 11.

The arrests were made with the help of Quincy police, officers said.

Legislature Concerned In Crime Rate

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware's Legislature, concerned by an increase in the crime rate, has passed a bill making whipping mandatory for people convicted of robbery.

The bill says: 20 to 40 lashes for the first offense and not less than 30 for each subsequent conviction.

The House passed the Senate version Wednesday 22-3. Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, however, declined comment when asked what he thought of the bill.

He said he would decide early next week about signing it.

If he does sign, it will be the first time in the history of the state that whipping has been mandatory punishment for a crime.

In the old days whipping was used to punish wife beating, theft and a variety of other crimes, but it was always imposed at the discretion of the judge. The present sentence for robbery for example, is a fine of not less than $500 and imprisonment for 3 to 25 lashes if the judge wishes.

For seven years there have been no official whippings in Delaware.

The most vocal opponent of the bill was Rep. Paul F. Livingston (D-Wilmington), the only Negro member of the House.

"Lashes take the manhood from the man," he said. "When you whip his back, then you got him. He can never lift his head up any more."

But Rep. R. Allen Cannon (D-Nanticoke Acres) argued that the bill would serve as a deterrent to robberies. He cited a wave of them recently in the southern part of the state.

Truman Urges Students to Read The Constitution

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry S. Truman turned today to the subject of "hysteria and witch hunting" in his Columbia University lectures after telling the students that the U. S. Constitution is the great legal document in the world. The former president's lecture is the last of a series of three. He urged his audience of 400 students yesterday to read and study the Constitution as a means of safeguarding their liberties. If they read it 100 times, he told them, "You'll always find something new in it."

Truman said he is "not impressed with this McCarthy idea of students who get support taking oaths."

The reference was to oaths required of students who want federal loans under the National Defense Act. An applicant must swear that he does not advocate overthrow of the government by force and that he does not belong to an organization committed to such force.

Truman said "demagogues are always pecking away at the constitution" by offering amendments to it.

The two worst amendments, he said, were the 18th prohibition amendment and the 22nd amendment which limits a president to two terms in office.

Government Running Out Of Ideas For New Taxes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The big problem in America today is—how can the government live off everybody when everybody is trying to live off the government?

Practically every government—federal, state or local—is running short of money. They also seem to be running out of ideas for new taxes.

The City Council here, for example, has just voted a five per cent tax on restaurant checks over a dollar. The tax was voted in an atmosphere of apology to "the little man," a tacit admission that only a cigar store Indian could find a decent meal here for less than a buck.

This abject attitude of polite concern over the plight of the taxpayer, however, isn't going to enable any government to live in the style to which it wants to become accustomed.

What governments need is the courage to reach firmly into new and unplumbed areas of the public purse and pluck boldly therefrom the money it wants.

Here are a few tentative suggestions:

Why not tax pedestrians? If drivers have to fork up money to get a license to use the city streets, why shouldn't pedestrians be made to pay for the privilege of wearing out the city sidewalks?

The issuance of $10 annual pedestrian licenses would not only add millions of dollars in revenue to most big municipalities. It would enable them to weed out reckless walkers unable to pass periodic inspection tests.

Why not also sell baby buggy licenses? Why should an infant, at the very start of its existence, get the idea there are any free rides in life?

It might even be a good idea to put a $15 tax—split equally between local, state and federal governments—on birth itself, payable at the hospital by the parents before they would be allowed to take their child home.

A few other ideas:

Taxes on girl watching.

Taxes on park bench sitting. Philosophers such as Bernard Baruch might object to these, but those who use public services ought to pay at least part of the costs.

Taxes on umbrella carrying. The government might also consider compulsory liability insurance here for the victims of this vicious practice.

Taxes on the public wearing of Phi Beta Kappa keys and Rotary Club lapel buttons.

Taxes on flower pots. The only danger here is that city dwellers might choose to let their pots lie fallow, and insist on being cut in for benefits under the federal soil bank program.

Special tax stamps to be affixed to letters written to Congress complaining about taxes.

When you get right down to it, the field of taxation is practically limitless. Anyone who thinks he's seen the end of new taxes just doesn't know what lies ahead.

Such as maybe a burial tax

Rio Grande Fleet Warned of Sharks

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—From the Fish and Game Department of Dryland, N.M., to the admiral of the Rio Grande fleet, Albuquerque:

Be on the lookout for sharks in your waters.

A dead fish, a stranger to these parts, was picked up on the bank of Berrendo Creek near Roswell last week and identified by fisheries biologist Dick Navarre as a bonnethead shark. Two hundred miles distant, along one of the Rio Grande drains near Albuquerque, a similar fish was found and identified by Dr. William Koster, University of New Mexico authority on fish, as a bonnethead shark.

The bonnethead is native to the Atlantic Ocean south of Long Island and is also a denizen of the Pacific south of Mazatlan on the Mexican coast. It is strictly a salt water fish.

Navarre theorized that the fish were brought in, probably by some joker, "just to get us all balled up."

Why Eat Eggs?

Eggs are an excellent source of highest quality complete protein, containing all essential amino acids. . . Eggs protein comes so near to perfection that scientists use it as a standard to measure the value of protein in other foods.

. . . Eggs are a good source of Vitamin A. . . Eggs contain the B. vitamins, thiamin (B1), riboflavin (B2) and (B12). . . Eggs are one of the first solid foods recommended for infants — especially important because of the infant's need for iron not found in milk. . . Eggs are easily and completely digested. Eggs are excellent for teenagers, providing stamina and helping to take care of body's food needs during periods of rapid growth. Eggs are vital in daily meals of adults of any age because of their food value, convenience, digestibility and economy. Eggs are important in reducing diets. They contain generous amounts of protein and other essential nutrients with a modest number of calories — 154 in a 2-egg serving. Eggs are equally important for gaining weight. In addition to eggs as the main dish, they can also add a "plus" value to milk or fruit beverages; or they may be used hard cooked as snacks and a "bonus food" with lunch and dinner.

Asparagus for Spring

Fresh asparagus with its fresh delicate flavor and pretty green color is a springtime delicacy. If you have an asparagus bed you are really fortunate. It is a tender vegetable which should be picked at the right moment and eaten soon after. Freshness is one of the most important qualities in all vegetables but in new asparagus this is of double importance.

The sooner asparagus is eaten after picking the better it is.

When asparagus is picked from the garden or picked up from the store, the firm, fresh, bright green stalks should be chosen.

The tips should be tightly closed. Open tips are a sign of over maturity and toughness. Fresh stalks are brittle and all of the stem except an inch or two at the base should be edible. Stalks that are wilted and limp are not a wise buy because only the tips will be good.

Buy only the amount of asparagus you can use right away. If you do need to keep it a day or two, trim off the tough ends, rinse the stalks in cold water and dry them. Wet asparagus soon becomes slimy and decays easily. Place the dry stalks in a covered container or plastic bag and store in the refrigerator. Asparagus is highly perishable and needs gentle treatment. It is a good source of vitamin A and provides small amounts of Thiamine and Iron and is easy to cook.

The important thing is to cook it so the stems are tender but the tips are not over-cooked. There are two ways you can do this.

First, as whole stalks — tie them in bunches and place upright in a saucepan with just enough boiling, salted water to cover the lower two-thirds of the stalks and cook for about ten minutes. The other way is to cut in pieces. Put the pieces of the lower part of the stalks in enough boiling, salted water to barely cover them. Then lay the tips on top. They will cook in the steam in the same length of time as the stalks will cook in the boiling water.

Freezing and Canning Asparagus

Freezing or canning asparagus at home during this season is a good idea if you raise your own or have a good source at a reasonable price. If you have proper equipment and up-to-date directions it is not difficult and the results are well worth the effort. Directions for freezing and canning may be obtained from our office, 605 South Massachusetts.

Asparagus for Spring

Administration Not Slashing Research, Secretary Maintains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming has labeled "clearly misleading" a House committee report that the administration is slashing important medical research in the interest of budget-balancing.

The Democratic-controlled House Appropriations committee report Tuesday accused the administration of having gone so far as to set back the medical research program "in a desperate attempt to present, on paper, a balanced budget."

The committee recommended that the National Institutes of Health be given $344,279,000, or 50 millions more than President Eisenhower asked for it. The committee said it was grossly foolish to cut back the institute's research particularly on cancer. Flemming said Eisenhower's request for 294 millions for this purpose is the same amount voted by Congress for the current fiscal year.

Actually, he said, the House committee last year recommended 71 million dollars less.

"It is hard to see how a 294 million-dollar proposal of this kind can be regarded as a backward step," Flemming's statement said.

Checks Many Firms

Local Chamber a Member Of Better Business Bureau

The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce reminded its members and the public in general today that it is a member of National Better Business Bureau, an organization which legitimate business established in 1912 to protect itself and its ultimate customer, the American public, from advertising or selling practices which are fraudulent, misleading or unfair where they exist on a regional or national scale.

It is through this agency that the Chamber of Commerce is able to check for the people of the area any company before they invest to see whether it is a legitimate business or not. This may be a solicitor at the door, or through advertising one way or the other, to see if it is an honest representation of products, securities and services.

A monthly service of the Better Business Bureau is the Service Bulletin put out by the National Better Business Bureau reporting on a variety of nationally active propositions, accompanied by a press release on a subject of current interest and supplement by individual NBBB service as required. These bulletins enable the Chamber to furnish a measure of protection against frauds and unfair practices to the local business men and other citizens of the community.

A call to the Chamber office to check is a wise step if there is doubt. If the Chamber office does not have the information on the firm in question in the office they can contact the National Better Business Bureau to investigate. There is no charge by the Chamber for this service.

The NBBB reports factually on those selling goods, securities and services, on fund-raising and advertising solicitations appeals, publishes and distributes its findings on advertising and selling practices, obtains voluntary correction of objectionable advertising or selling practices, cooperates with media to prevent the appearance of bad advertising and assists in consumer education, cooperating with educators, distributing facts and information.

This service that saves those who take advantage of it hundreds of dollars each year in this community, Julius Stohr, director of the business relations division of the local Chamber, points out, is as close as a telephone call to the Chamber office.

Stohr and his committee work toward a constant awareness by business firms and Sedalia citizens on all schemes and unauthorized solicitation, and encourage the general public to report any and all unidentifiable solicitations, plans and schemes, and unsavory business practices promptly to the Chamber office.

Challenge Of Our Heritage

We who live in America and the Western world have a great many things in our heritage to be thankful for.

There are wonderful things to read, from beautifully told stories to perceptive histories to the speculations of the philosophers. There is music to stir the heart and delight the ear, art of many sorts to please the eye and touch that same heart.

Some of these high marks of our cultural accomplishment are comparatively new. Others have come down to us from a past that ranges from a few decades ago to distant centuries.

In every age, some of the new things are not recognized for what they are. Experiment with new forms and ideas may actually be leading to new levels of greatness, yet people used to conventional ways of writing or composing find themselves resisting the change.

In every time, too, there are many who look only for the new. They imagine that good books and good music and the like are the products of fashion, like women's hats, and that somehow last year's or last century's writings are no longer worth looking at.

Those who feel this way are of course themselves the losers. The great things they turn their backs upon will endure longer than the individuals who spurn them.

One thoughtful fellow put it like this:

"The great works of our civilization are not on trial before each new generation. They have stood the test of time. They have already proved themselves with millions of human beings who examined them and found them rich in reward.

"It is we, looking at these things today, who are on trial.

"The question is whether we can see them in their true substance, glean from them the reward they hold, appreciate the comment they make upon life. If we cannot, it is we, not the great works, that have failed."

A magnificent heritage is ours for the taking. No one of us ought to ignore it. To do so is to travel on the thin surface of life, never probing its depths. It is to move in the clamorous present, detached from the solid anchor of the past. It is to reduce living close to mere existing.

With all its perils, the world Western men have built is worth living in. But to live in it, to the hilt, we must meet its challenge, and not expect it to meet ours.

Polaris Missile Is Behind Schedule

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Pennsylvania's effervescent Congressman Dan Flood collected a new hat the other day from Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy.

Flood had wagered a hat last summer that McElroy wouldn't make good his claim that our 1,500-mile Thor missiles would be operational in Britain by Christmas.

After the Christmas holidays, Flood telephoned the secretary of defense and demanded his hat.

"Thors have been deployed in Britain," protested McElroy.

"That wasn't the bet," Flood retorted. "The missiles were supposed to be operational."

"I can't give you a hat," the secretary hedged. "The Russians might learn about it, then they would know the missiles aren't operational yet."

After the Thors became operational, McElroy happened to be strolling by a hat store in Tucson, Ariz. He spotted a hat that seemed to go with Flood's waxed mustache.

In mock concern over security, McElroy finally presented the hat to Flood behind closed doors.

"I want all present to witness that I am not admitting I owe him the hat," the secretary announced solemnly. "I am giving it to him because I walked by a store in Tucson, saw the hat, and thought it would look good on Flood."

Another Missile Lag

It now looks as if the Navy's Polaris missiles won't be ready on schedule to install in the atomic submarines that are supposed to carry them.

The Polaris program has slipped farther behind schedule than any other missile. Although over a dozen experimental models should have been fired by now, only five have actually been tested.

Of these, only the fifth was announced as "successful." This was stretching the truth, since it was supposed to go 750 miles but plopped into the Atlantic after traveling only 350 miles.

Eventually, the Polaris should have a range of 1,200 miles. It will also be fired underwater from submerged subs.

Chicago Tribune's War

It took the Chicago Tribune to dramatically publicize the most important issue worrying the American people—inflation. Illinois congressmen are now feeling the effects.

Ches Campbell, president of the Tribune, got to thinking about zooming prices, increasing wages, together with the lessened value of insurance, government bonds, and old-age pensions. He decided to do something about

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: Hitler's Birthday.—Adolph Hitler's birthday passed almost unnoticed the same day that Sir Winston Churchill was wildly cheered by his constituents in Woodford, a residential area near London.

The German people generally ignored the anniversary of the birth of Hitler—the man who promised them world conquest and led them to destruction.

Woodford residents roared their approval when Churchill promised to "offer myself once again as a candidate in your constituency." Churchill has served in Parliament 59 years.

The situation was far different Monday than it was less than two decades ago. Then Churchill could pledge only his "blood, sweat and tears" to an apprehensive nation, battered and bombarded from the air and threatened by invasion.

Then Churchill was but a ray of hope for a weary nation while his counterpart in Germany was the magnificent leader, whose word was law and whose pronouncements terrified millions.

Churchill offered work and sorrow for a secure nation, while Hitler offered glory and triumph for a ruling nation. That is one reason why Adolph Hitler's birthday passed almost unnoticed.

A Somber Shadow at Press Conference

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a pleasant, warm, sunny day outside as President Eisenhower answered questions at his news conference Wednesday. The question about Iraq was just one among others.

And the President's answer didn't take long. Yet the question and answer threw across the room a somber shadow hardly noticeable as the reporters pressed ahead with other questions of their own.

For in Iraq — and what may happen to it and the Middle East later — lies the possibility of one of America's greatest cold war defeats.

Just the day before, Allen Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee: Communists are in almost complete control in Iraq.

If they are, then it would seem in a short time they should be able to take over. If they delay, it will be because of these two things:

1. That Moscow, for reasons of its own, will order the takeover delayed.

2. That the United States and its allies can find some way and some policy to prevent it. Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the committee, said the situation is not hopeless if such a policy can be found.

But none is in sight now. Two years ago Iraq was linked with the United States through its defense agreement with Iran, Turkey, Pakistan. That was when Eisenhower asked, and Congress approved, a declaration that the President could use U.S. troops to help any Mideast country against armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism.

One of the weak spots in that policy has always been this: What can the United States do if native Communists take over a country from within, and without obvious outside aggression?

Last summer when the Iraqi army overthrew the government — which had linked itself with this country — by killing the King, Eisenhower sent American troops into neighboring Lebanon.

Lebanon itself at the time was torn by civil war. Eisenhower said he acted then on the request of the Lebanese President, Camille Chamoun, to guard American lives and protect Lebanon against indirect aggression.

But could Eisenhower use these powers to send American troops into Iraq to prevent a Communist takeover from within? It seems unlikely.

Mother's Real Fear For Son Often Vague, Ineffective

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Two years ago Warren fractured his leg in a fall from a playground slide.

This afternoon his mother looked out of the window to see him riding a friend's new bike. Though Ed was running beside him to support the saddle, Warren was having trouble keeping the handlebars steady.

Instantly his mother imagined him falling and again breaking his leg. In her mind's eye, she saw him lying in the drive, the leg twisted under him, the remembered look of pain on his face. She imagined the rush to the hospital, the lost school days and nights made restless by the cast on his leg.

Running to the door, she told him to come in and get at his homework. When he protested that Eddie had just arrived, she cried, "I don't care if he did. He's got to go home now!"

She is, of course, terribly afraid of Warren's breaking his leg.

But she's only half aware of her fear. As it lies just under the surface of her consciousness, she glimpses it only occasionally just as a fisherman will glimpse the vague shape of a shark rise in the sea to his net and then disappear. Like the hungry shark, her fear only disappears to appear again—and overwhelm her the moment Warren tries to ride a bike, talks of joining his school's scrub baseball team or going to summer camp.

This half-submerged state of the fear is her problem. If she could lift it to the surface of her awareness, she could destroy it just as the fisherman can gaff the shark he has raised from the sea into the air. She could attack the fear instead of living in suspense for its attacks upon her.

She could telephone her doctor and say, "Is Warren's leg really healed well enough now for him to use it as freely as other boys use theirs?" And the doctor would say heartily, "Sure he can! Don't

For one thing, Iraq's Premier Abdel Karim Kassem, who led the revolution against the King, has surrounded himself with Communists. If they took over, they'd be his boys, not outsiders.

And even if he tried to disown them at the last moment, he might be eliminated too fast to do what the Lebanese President did: ask for American help.

If the Reds take over in Iraq, which is completely shut off from border contact with the Soviet Union by its neighbors, the Soviets would have their first firm foothold in the Middle East. It would be a colossal disaster for the West.

At his news conference the President was asked if there was any way to save Iraq from slipping behind the Iron Curtain. There was nothing concrete in the President's answer.

Most of what he said can be summed up in his last paragraph: "If there is anything we can do to promote better relations with this country without making other enemies in the same region, why that is a good policy to follow. And we do follow it."

Capitol Hill Battle By Big and Little Wheat Boys

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—The Big Wheat boys and the Little Wheat boys are battling again on Capitol Hill only this time they are aiming their attack more on other forces than each other.

Adverse public opinion about growing wheat surpluses is alarming both. But more specifically they don't want "Benson to wreck the wheat program as he did the corn program" as one wheat grower told Senator Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who is a bit of a hero to Little Wheat men for killing the attempt to eliminate their 15 acre exemption in the Agriculture committee last summer. To please everyone will not be easy.

1. The Little Wheat grower: He wants to keep his 15 acre exemption without price control. This represents, in many cases, his only cash crop. Anyway, his crop is mostly "soft" wheat, which is not in surplus.

Thousands of farmers enjoy this exemption and sell their wheat on the open market.

2. The farmer who wants to grow wheat only for use on his own farm: Thirty acres are permitted for this and few need more to feed their livestock. (Remember the widely publicized complaint of the Michigan farmer, Stanley Yankus, who got into trouble planting more?)

3. The Big Wheat grower: He likes the present setup whereby his crop is price-supported and the penalty for overplanting is so insignificant he can pay the fine and still make money.

4. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson: He believes that production will drop if prices drop and that would force the Little Wheat man to get off his farm. This theory is based on the theory that marginal farms hurt the entire farm economy.

What is feared most by wheat-folk is the possibility of a non-compliance loan. He might repeat his "corn" program which was begun in 1956 and has resulted in the lowest corn price in years. The first year, growers were given a high price support ($1.50) for reducing their acreage and then almost as high ($1.25) to those who did not comply. To avoid this happening to the wheat program, the Big Wheat boys are willing to take stiffer penalties and lower allotments. (They can still make money.)

Likewise, the Little Wheat boys will give a "little" on the 15 acre exemption but not as much as 10 acres. Their defenders in Congress stress that this would be a thirty-three and one-third percent cut for them which is a lot more than the Big Wheat boys are willing to take.

But both are willing to compromise rather than to ruin the wheat program. So to outlaw the non-compliance loan possibility is the most urgent thing, say all the men who grow wheat.

Those in Washington to testify at the Senate hearings, now in progress, are taking a long look at the new makeup of the Senate Agriculture committee. For years, it was dominated by "big wheat" senators but the Democratic election victories put more senators from east of the Mississippi on the committee, some of whom never milked a cow. Three of these are Philip Hart of Michigan, William Proxmire of Wisconsin, and Stephen M. Young of Ohio, not to be confused with the other Young on the same committee from North Dakota, who is called the spokesman for Big Wheat.

The Big Wheat growers are energetic lobbyists but the Little Wheat grower must depend on his own representative in Congress to lobby for him.

Dr. Jordan Says

Proper Diet Is 'Doubly' Urgent During Pregnancy

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

During pregnancy, the diet must not only keep the mother in good health but must supply the unborn infant.

The unborn infant is growing at a rate of speed never again attained and needs large quantities of body-building substances. If those are not supplied in the mother's diet, the infant will take them from the mother's tissues without any thought of her health.

The rules governing diet for the pregnant mother are simple but important.

The food must supply enough of the basic needs to keep the mother in good health and to enable the unborn child to grow adequately. The usual foodstuffs, which are starches, fats and proteins, are usually included.

But the pregnant woman must avoid eating too much or gaining much weight. Too much added poundage is hazardous for both mother and child.

Many specialists insist that their pregnant patients limit the weight gain to 20 pounds or less. Remember that the average infant weighs about seven or eight pounds. Anything more is the mother's.

In addition to the proper quantity of food, there may be special needs for the mother and child. Bones and teeth are produced largely from calcium.

Calcium, therefore, with or without vitamin D, which aids the use of that substance, may need to be added to the diet. If there is not enough calcium in the diet or if it is poorly absorbed, the infant may take calcium from the mother with resultant trouble with teeth or bones at a later date.

In certain areas of the continent there is a lack of iodine in the food. This is particularly true of the Great Lakes region. This substance is necessary for human growth and sometimes should be added in small quantities to the diet of the mother.

In many cases enough iodine is supplied by the ordinary use of iodized salt. Taking excess iodine without direct advice is not recommended.

Constipation is common in pregnancy, especially near the end. This is primarily mechanical in nature, but may be eased by the addition to the diet of fruits, vegetables or other laxative substances.

Too many laxative foods, however, can well be undesirable. A radical change in this direction is inadvisable except under the advice of a physician as it could bring on too early labor.

The prospective mother who has the physical interests of her child and herself at heart should place herself in the hands of a physician.

Thought For Today

They on the rock are they which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.—Luke 8:13.

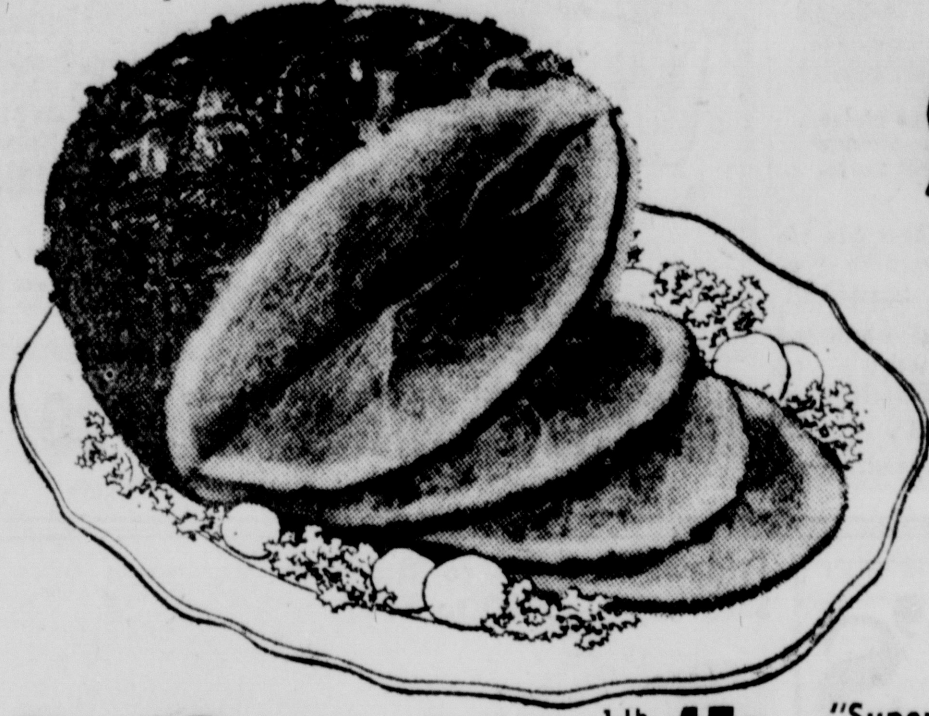

Temptations, when we meet them at first, are as the lion that reared upon Samson; but if we overcome them, the next time we see them we shall find a nest of honey within them.—John Bunyan.

Asks Public Support

Obscene Mail Claimed To be Serious Threat

(Ed. Note: This is the first of two articles published in the public interest on the growing threat of obscene mail, and what can be done about it. Today, we explain the serious dimensions of this problem. The next article, which will follow soon, will tell what can be done about it.)

Postmaster Maurice Hogan appealed for public support today in the intensified war against General Arthur E. Summerfield has declared on the "ruthless mail order merchants in filth who are violating the homes of the nation in defiance of the national government."

Using one of the nation's most cherished privileges to carry on their smutty trade — the uncensored letter — "barons of obscenity" today are sending unsorted materials into our mail boxes, much of it directed to teenage youngsters, Postmaster Hogan explained.

The materials offered for sale include filthy films and books, and dirty pictures, slides and related filth, advertised in highly objectionable circulars that are being sent indiscriminately to homes here and all over the nation, he said.

Postmaster General Summerfield has advised the local postmaster that $500,000,000 is being taken in annually by large mail order dealers in pornography and obscenity. Postal authorities here, as well as those over the nation, receive complaints from many groups. Nationally, complaints are reported from leading clergymen, school groups, newspaper editors and alarmed parents.

During a recent 12-month period, the local postmaster was advised, postal inspectors conducted 4,000 investigations on obscene and pornographic mail and caused the arrest of 293 persons dealing in this filth. This is an increase of 45 per cent over the previous year, and an all-time high, according to the Postmaster General. Moreover, Summerfield has emphasized to local postal officials that the threat is increasing.

Indicative of the extensive operations of the filth factories that are invading the homes of the nation with their suggestive advertisements and dirty materials, Summerfield noted that within the past few weeks simultaneous raids by U. S. Marshals and Postal Inspectors in New York City resulted in seizure of 15 tons of dirty films, slides, photographs and other smut, and a mailing list, used nationally, containing 100,000 names.

Another raid in recent days yielded huge quantities of filth from the premises of a Santa Monica, California, dealer in especially objectionable films and photographs.

"No longer do dealers in smut surreptitiously serve only a few adults," the local postmaster explained. "They brazenly solicit our children, sending their material indiscriminately and without conscience into our home mail boxes."

"For example," Hogan noted, "the Postmaster General has advised me of cases where teenagers wrote away for auto parts and received later 'sex instructions' advertisements; of new graduating classes whose names were taken from newspapers by filth merchants who circularized every member of the class; of youngsters who wrote in for model airplane catalogs, or a set of stamps, and later received materials on films portraying sex and perversion."

Complaints are also being received in increasing numbers over the nation involving solicitation from filth factories of innocent teen-age girls, housewives, and even Cub Scouts, the postmaster noted.

"The Post Office Department is diligently trying to clean up the mails," Postmaster General Summerfield explained recently to Congress, which is considering new measures to deal with this growing national threat. "But," Summerfield added, "the Post Office Department has been subjected frequently to attack and ridicule by those who hope to profit personally from unrestricted mailings, or by those who — confusing liberty with license — unwittingly give them assistance."

"There appear to be two basic reasons for the increasing volume of filth in the mails," he continued. "First, the tremendous profits that are realized from a relatively small capital investment, and, secondly, the very broad definition of obscenity handed down by certain courts—including those in certain Metropolitan Areas — notably Los Angeles and New York."

These rulings, he concluded, "have established virtual sanctuaries." From these sanctuaries, he explained, filth dealers have operated with impunity in developing their huge business in filth, flooding this community and others with materials which constitute "one of the most serious moral and social problems in the United States today."

Attorney To Speak Friday At Luncheon

William F. Brown, Sedalia attorney, will be the speaker at the May Fellowship luncheon to be held Friday at 12:30 p.m., at the First Christian Church, sponsored by the United Church Women of which Mrs. A. F. Klemme is president.

Brown will take for his subject, "How Much Is Enough?" which is the theme of the May Fellowship luncheon this year nationally. A survey of the needs here and in foreign countries to see how much is needed to provide a decent standard of living where people have the food, clothing and other things will be made and church women across America will spend the spring of 1959 delving into the reasons for some of the money troubles of American families.

They will point the need for a well-defined set of values and a good budget plan for every family.

The invocation will be given by the Rev. Harry Purviance, pastor of the First Christian Church and president of the Ministerial Alliance.

A musical program will be presented. During the worship period Richard Spellman, minister of Christian development at the First Christian Church will give the offertory prayer.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens is chairman

May Named Palsy Month Of Education

Traditionally May Day is the time when children fashion pretty May baskets from bits of paper and ribbon, fill them with home made candy, popcorn and nuts, top them with wild flowers picked in the woods, and then hang them on the door knobs at the home of their best friends.

Also in keeping with this tradition, after the bearer of the May basket rings the doorbell, he or she runs away fast for the person who is caught bringing such a basket gets soundly kissed.

Unfortunately all children can not enter into this age old custom and one group who, to date, can never hope to fully participate are those who have cerebral palsy.

May has been named Cerebral Palsy Education Month for Pettis County.

Every 53 minutes a child is born with cerebral palsy. However, this can happen to anyone, at any time, before, during or after birth.

Since, at the present time, there is no cure for cerebral palsy, great emphasis is being placed on research into this crippling that strikes primarily at children and prevents them from enjoying a normal life.

Children with cerebral palsy can walk only after a long period of training of weak and uncoordinated muscles, and then often with the aid of brace or crutch.
